Professor Ariel Dulitzky

Human Rights Lawyering under Populist Regimes

May 10, 2023 | 18:00 – 20:00

The Helga Cegla Hall (ground floor, room 21)
Trubowitz Building, Faculty of Law

Professor Ariel Dulitzky, a native of Argentina, is the Director of the Human Rights Clinic at the University of Texas Austin School of Law. He is a leading expert in the inter-American human rights system. In 2010 he was appointed to the United Nations Working Group on Enforced or Involuntary Disappearances and elected as its Chair-Rapporteur in 2013 (2013-2015). Prior to joining the University of Texas, he was Assistant Executive Secretary of the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights. In addition to his extensive work at the UN and in the State of Texas, Dulitzky has directed the litigation of more than 100 cases in front of the Inter-American Commission and Inter-American Court of Human Rights.

In this talk, Dulitzky will share his experience in human rights litigation in the United States under the Trump administration and in Latin America, discussing the challenges, dilemmas and strategies of human rights lawyers working against populist governments. Human rights lawyers and activists, clinical lawyers, and all other members of the legal community are invited to this talk and to discuss with Professor Dulitzky the challenges they themselves face in contemporary Israel.

The event will be held in English
